

YOU'RE INVITED TO JOIN THE

WASHINGTON STATE FELLOWS' NETWORK

A leadership program focused on equitable mindsets and practices for educators

The Fellows' Network is a group of instructional leaders convened by the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Association of Educational Service Districts to support district and community implementation of state learning standards in Mathematics, English Language Arts, Science, and Early Learning Guidelines.

Fellows meet four times per year and use the instructional leadership skills developed to widen the circle of learning.

The Fellows' Network is committed to content learning, instructional leadership, and equity for every student in every learning environment.

You must apply to be considered. It is encouraged to seek administrative support as this is a three-year professional learning and leadership development program.
